Larry Glazer

- “On the shores of hesitation, bleach the bones of those countless millions who on the edge of victory sat down to rest and resting died”

- Winston Churchill

Mentors

- » His father
- » Wife (Jane Glazer)
- » Long-time friend Harold Samloff

Mentors

- Growing up Mr. Glazer watched his father and noticed an insightful inventor
- Created the coin operated Laundromat, lanolin based hand creams, waterless hand soap and silicon based ironing aides
- Mr. Glazer noticed that his father did not have the business man savvy to patent these ideas as he made not a single penny off of them
- Jane helped Glazer to understand that one has instincts for a reason and that sometimes its logical to listen to them
- Business partner and the one who contacted Larry with the idea to start their own real estate practice and lead him to success

- John Milton

Influences

- Parents were not wealthy
- They always put their faith in him which gave him a strong sense of self confidence
- Lead him to feel like there were no limits
- Always pushed himself to the limits
- Enrolled in pre-med at first even though he was not too academically inclined

Influences

- After graduation, Don went to work at Itek Optical Systems
- Did not choose based off salary but rather their reputation in the industry
- Not only did he receive feedback from experienced veterans in the field but he also recalls once giving his opinion directly to the CEO
